Accounts Guidance

To be read in conjunction with Item 10 of the Accounts Code

Payment into Client Account

i) When a client account is being opened, written notice should be given to the Bank or Building Society concerned in clear terms that the account is to be a Client Account and, in particular, that it may not be resorted to for the purpose of setting off against any other account of the body. The Bank or Building Society should also be asked to acknowledge its acceptance of this in writing.

(ii) You/the entity may keep one Client Account or as many Client Accounts as you think fit.

(iii) Subject to Requirement 10.3, the CLC permits schemes proposed by Banks to aggregate sums held in a number of Client Accounts in order to maximise the interest payable.

(iv) Client Accounts are not intended to provide banking facilities for Clients.

(v) There are criminal sanctions against assisting money launderers – see Anti-Money Laundering and Combating Terrorist Financing Code.

Client Money

(i) Client Money includes money held or received:

(a) as agent, bailee or stakeholder;

(b) for payment of stamp duty land tax, Land Registry fees and telegraphic transfer fees (this does not become Office Money unless an obligation to pay out of Office Account has been incurred and the payment is recorded in the office columns of the appropriate client ledger account).

(c) as a payment on account of costs generally.

(ii) Money held to the sender’s order is Client Money if accepted and must be held in a Client Account unless it is received on the express terms that the cheque or draft (as opposed to the money itself) may not be presented for payment without the sender’s consent. In this case you are under a professional obligation to return the cheque or draft to the sender on demand.

(iii) A payment made by you to a Client which is credited to Client Account in accordance with requirement 10.4.2 becomes Client Money and must be recorded in both the client and office columns of the appropriate client ledger account.

(iv) You cannot be your own Client for the purposes of this Code; if a transaction is conducted for a manager, money held or received on your behalf is in principle Office Money. However, money received in such a case may still be Client Money, e.g.:

(a) where you/the entity act for a lender, money held or received on behalf of the lender is Client Money;
(b) where you/ the entity act for a manager and his spouse jointly (assuming that the spouse is not also a manager in the entity), money received on their joint behalf is Client Money:

(c) where you/the entity acts for an employee (whether or not a Licensed Conveyancer), consultant or director, such person is regarded as a Client of the entity and money received on his behalf is Client Money, even if that person conducts the transaction himself.

To be read in conjunction with Item 12 of the Accounts Code

Client Account Withdrawal & Transfer

(i) Money held on account of Costs and Disbursements becomes Office Money on the date the bill of costs is sent to the Client (requirement 12.1.4).

(ii) Money is ‘expended’ under requirement 12.2.3 at the time when a cheque is despatched, not when it is cleared. Money is also regarded as expended by the use of a credit account so that, for example, search fees, taxi fares and courier charges incurred in this way may be transferred to the Office Account.

(iii) Requirement 12.2.4 permits you to transfer from client to office bank account monies where a direct debit scheme is in operation. A liability to pay out of Office Account is deemed to have incurred when the anticipated payment from office bank account has been evidenced on a Durable Medium and recorded on the office side of the appropriate client ledger account.

(iv) The purpose of requirement 12.2.6 is to enable you, with the written authority of the CLC, to participate in schemes for automated payments to be made direct from Client Account. The CLC will generally only authorise individual payments to enable aged balances to be cleared.

(v) Bearing in mind note (ii), you should take care in drawing against a Client Account cheque or draft which has not yet been cleared. If the cheque or draft should be dishonoured, you will have to make a payment under requirement 10.4.2 to ensure there is no breach of requirement 12.4.

(vi) Similarly, if when acting for a Client you withdraw money from Client Account on the strength of information that a telegraphic transfer is on its way, but that transfer does not arrive, you will have to make a payment under requirement 10.4.2 to ensure there is no breach of requirement 12.4.

(vii) A manager of a body or the Head of Finance & Administration of a Licensed Body must be able to operate the Office Account of the body in order to be able to comply with requirement 12.5.

Withdrawals

(i) Nothing under requirement 12.8 shall prevent any other person from operating such systems or processes in conjunction with an Approved Person, provided that such systems or processes cannot be operated by that other person alone.

(ii) Oral authorisations to the Bank are no longer permitted without confirmation of such authorisation on a Durable Medium.
Withdrawals & Transfers

(i) Monies remaining in Client Account that cannot be paid to the Rightful Recipient can be dealt with under requirement 12.2.6 (bearing in mind the Aged Balance Guidance attached to this Code).

(ii) Provided certain criteria have been met, withdrawals are allowed where the CLC has given authority and the balance has been static for over 12 months.

To be read in conjunction with Item 13 of the Accounts Code

Accounting Records

(i) Where Banks operate automatic transfers to Client Accounts offering a higher rate of interest, separate cash accounts are not required to record these transfers.

(ii) Only client ledger accounts in the name of a Client are allowed. General or suspense client ledger accounts are not permitted.

Separate Designated Accounts

(i) ‘Clearly identifiable’ means that, looking at the ledger account, both the nature and owner of the mortgage advance are unambiguously stated.

(ii) Although a separate ledger account is not opened for the lender, the mortgage advance credited to the client’s ledger account belongs to the lender, not to the borrower, until completion takes place.

Improper removal of such funds from a Client Account is contrary to requirement 12.4.

Reconciliation Statements

(i) Where, as a result of carrying out the comparisons and preparation of the reconciliation statement under requirement 13.9, any shortfall on Client Account is revealed it must be made good Without Delay by a payment into Client Account in accordance with requirement 10.4.2.

(ii) Where, as a result of carrying out the comparisons and preparation of the reconciliation statement under requirement 13.9, any credit balance on the office side of a client ledger account is revealed, it must be rectified by the appropriate action Without Delay.

(iii) Any outstanding credit on the client bank reconciliation should be cleared by a payment into client bank account Without Delay. The absence of a corresponding entry at the bank may create a shortfall on the relevant client ledger account.

To be read in conjunction with Item 14 of the Accounts Code

CLC Monitoring
(i) Reasons are not required to be given for an inspection.
(ii) You are required to provide, where required by the CLC’s appointee, access to any computerised system.

Disciplinary Consequences

(iii) If it appears to the CLC that there has been a contravention of this Code, disciplinary proceedings may be taken against you as Manager or as an entity under the Code of Conduct.

(iv) Where following an inspection instituted under requirement 14.1 it appears to the CLC that there is reason to believe you have failed to comply with a provision of this Code, the CLC may require you to pay a reasonable sum as is determined by the CLC to cover the cost of a further inspection.

(v) Any report made by the CLC’s appointee may be sent by the CLC to the Crown Prosecution Service or the National Crime Agency or to any of the accountancy bodies recognised by the CLC. It may be used as the basis for a preliminary investigation and may be taken into account by the CLC in relation to the possible disqualification of a Reporting Accountant. Please see Guidance at 16.7.2.

*********************************************************************************

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Interest directions</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Without prejudice to any other remedy, a Client may apply to the CLC for a direction as to whether or not interest should have been earned in respect of Client Money held on his behalf by an Authorised Person. If the CLC directs that interest should have been earned then it may issue a direction as to the sum you pay to the Client in lieu of interest.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Deposit Interest

(i) If appropriate, the CLC may require you to obtain an interest calculation from the relevant Bank or Building Society.

Informed Consent/contracting out

(i) Whether it is appropriate to contract out depends on all the circumstances, for example, the size of the sum involved or the nature or status or bargaining position of the Client.

(ii) The larger the sum of interest involved, the greater your obligation to demonstrate that a Client who has accepted a contracting out provision was properly informed and has been treated fairly and reasonably.

*********************************************************************************

To be read in conjunction with Item 16 of the Accounts Code

Accountant’s Reports (1)
(i) Even when this Code does not require delivery of a Report, a condition on a licence to practise may impose a separate and binding obligation to that effect.

(ii) When Client Money is held or received by an entity, any Manager will have held or received Client Money.

(iii) Employees do not usually hold Client Money, even if they are signatories on an entity’s Client Account.

(iv) If an employee does hold Client Money, an Accountant’s Report will need to be delivered.

(v) You must apply to the CLC for consent to vary the Accounting Period.

(vi) When an entity is being wound up, you may be left with Client Money which is unattributable or belongs to a Client who, despite efforts, cannot be traced. It may then be appropriate to apply to the CLC for authority to withdraw this money from the Client Account under requirement 12.2.6 (see CLC’s Aged Balance Guidance attached to this Code).

(vii) It is not a breach of requirement 16.5 for you to retain an independent accountant to write up the books of account and to instruct the same person to prepare and sign the Accountant’s Report. However, the accountant will have to disclose these circumstances in the Accountant’s Report.

Disqualification of Accountants

(i) The CLC may disqualify an accountant from giving an Accountant’s Report if:

   a) they have been found guilty by the disciplinary tribunal of their professional body of professional misconduct or discreditable conduct; or

   b) it is satisfied that the Reporting Accountant has failed in their Accountant’s Report to properly identify and explain to the satisfaction of the CLC any breaches of this Code.

(ii) In coming to a decision the CLC will take into account any representations made by the accountant and their professional body.

(iii) The CLC shall notify you if you are likely to be affected by an accountant’s disqualification, and may also publish notification of such disqualification in the CLC’s ‘Chronicle’ or other publication.

(iv) The CLC may impose a £100 penalty for late submission of an Accountant’s Report.

Accountant’s Report (2)

(i) Although requirement 16.12 requires the Reporting Accountant to deliver to the CLC the Accountant’s Report together with the completed checklist, requirement 16.1 requires you to procure the delivery of the Accountant’s Report to the CLC by the Reporting Accountant within the due date. The Reporting Accountant must provide you with a copy of the Accountant’s Report and completed checklist.

(ii) Factors to be considered in determining whether a breach is ‘trivial’ include the amount involved, the nature of the breach, whether the breach was deliberate or accidental, how often the same breach occurred, and the time which passed before discovery and correction (especially the replacement of any shortage).

(iii) If an Accountant’s Report is qualified only by reference to trivial breaches but which shows a significant difference between liabilities to Clients and Client Money held, either you or the Reporting Accountant must provide the CLC with an explanation for this difference, as required by the Accountant’s Report Form.

**********************************************************************

To be read in conjunction with Item 17 of the Accounts Code

General Savings Provisions

(i) Upon receiving a written application from you the CLC may waive in writing in any particular case any of the provisions of requirement 16 and may revoke any waiver.

(ii) Nothing in this Code deprives you of your entitlement to money standing to the credit of a client ledger account.

**********************************************************************

Aged Balances

Purpose of Guidance

The purpose of this Guidance is to help the regulated community resolve the problem of Aged Balances; this money cannot be withdrawn from the client account without written authority of the CLC. The Guidance intends to highlight issues which may arise and suggest possible solutions. However, it is up to the individual Authorised Person to decide which options best suit their circumstances.

Part 1 of this note sets out ways in which you can avoid or minimise Aged Balances; and Part 2 sets out the procedure which the CLC will adopt when it considers whether to give written authority in accordance with requirement 12.2.6 of the CLC Accounts Code.

Part 1 ~ How to Avoid Aged Balances - Example Procedure

On Receipt of Instructions: -

1. (a) obtain the client’s bank details (name and address of bank, sort code, account number and name) e.g. by keeping a copy of cheques issued by the client;

(b) alternatively, obtain the client’s credit card details.

Completion Statements
2. (a) “Completion Statement” means an itemised statement of money paid in and out concluding with a balance either owed by or to be paid to the recipient.

(b) Draft Completion Statements should be prepared and checked prior to exchange of contracts.

(c) All Completion Statements (whether in draft or final form) should be checked for accuracy by reference:

(i) to the account or alternatively to their credit card account; and

(ii) to the client ledger, with evidence from the rightful recipient on Durable Medium.

Client Ledger Card

3. The client ledger card should be checked to ascertain whether a balance remains after the last payment is made and, if so, the balance should be accounted for immediately to the Rightful Recipient.

4. It is good practice to ensure that:

(i) the client ledger balances are reviewed monthly to identify unexpected or dormant client balances;

(ii) If a balance is held against a contingent liability, a note is made on the client ledger card (alternatively the file) clearly identifying that liability; and

(iii) a schedule of client balances held for 3 months or more is maintained stating in each case the client(s) name(s), file/ledger number, the Rightful Recipient, the balance outstanding, the date of last movement and the reason for the balance.

5. Before a file is closed or archived:

(a) the client ledger card should be checked to ensure:

(i) no balance is outstanding;

(ii) all cheque payments have been cleared by the bank;

(b) a copy of the client ledger card showing a nil balance on both the client and office account should be placed on the file.

Unpresented Cheques

6. Unpresented cheques should be reviewed on a regular basis.

(a) Unpresented Mortgage Redemption Cheques ~ the Rightful Recipient should be contacted within 12 days or no later than one month after payment has been tendered and then at frequent intervals;
(b) All other cheques — the Rightful Recipient should be contacted after no more than two months after the cheque has been tendered and then at a minimum of two monthly intervals.

7. If a cheque has been lost or remains unpresented after six months:
   (a) a stop should be placed on the original cheque;
   (b) the cheque should be written back to the client ledger account; and
   (c) the monies paid:
      (i) either direct to the Rightful Recipient’s bank account, alternatively credit card account; or
      (ii) at the Rightful Recipient’s direction.

Retention Monies

8. Where possible you should seek agreement providing for retention monies to be held on terms that provide for payment to a named person at a specified bank account if the terms for their release have not been satisfied within a specified period.

9. If no such term has been agreed:
   (a) the file should be reviewed every three months; and
   (b) you should seek to obtain such an agreement.

10. It is good practice to maintain:
    (a) a schedule of retention balances stating in each case the client(s) name(s), the file/ledger number, the amount of and the reason for the retention and the last date for release; and
    (b) a separate note of the reason for the retention and the last date for release on the client ledger card.

Aborted or Delayed Transactions

11. Regular contact should be maintained with the client where the matter has either aborted or been delayed.

Part 2 - Obtaining Authority from the CLC

1. Requirement 12.2.6 of the CLC Accounts Code provides that money may be withdrawn from Client Account, where -

   “the CLC has given written authority for a specific payment to a nominated payee”.

Authorisation
2. The CLC will consider giving this authorisation as follows:

2.1 where the Aged Balance is less than £20.00:

(a) the CLC must be provided with:

(i) an Undertaking in the following terms:

“In consideration of the CLC giving written authority in accordance with Requirement 12.2.6 of the CLC Accounts Code for the withdrawal of the monies set out in the schedule to this Undertaking (the “Annex”) I/We [names] undertake to the CLC that I/we shall within 14 days of a request from the Rightful Recipient pay the sum outstanding as set out in the Annex in accordance with this direction.”

(ii) the Annex which sets out in each case the client(s) name(s), the file/ledger reference, identifying the property to which the transaction related, the Rightful Recipient, the balance outstanding and the date of last movement;

(b) on receipt of the Undertaking the CLC may give written authority for withdrawal of the sums set out in the Annex from the client account;

(c) on receipt of the written authority from the CLC you can transfer the balances as set out in the Annex from client to office bank account providing the relevant entries have been made to a suitable office nominal ledger account e.g. “Write Offs” and places a copy of the authority issued by the CLC on the client’s file.

2.2 Where the Aged Balance amounts to £20 or more but less than £100 the CLC must be provided with:

(a) a schedule setting out in each case the client(s) name(s), the file/ledger reference, identifying the property to which the transaction related, the Rightful Recipient, the balance outstanding and the date of last movement;

(b) a copy of the client ledger card(s); and

(c) a signed certificate giving brief details of how the balance has arisen and stating you have taken all Reasonable Steps to trace the Rightful Recipient but have been unable to trace that person.

The Rightful Recipient is the person to whom monies held by the CLC Body on client account are correctly due.

2.3 ‘Reasonable Steps’ are dependent on the particular circumstances and the sum involved. Examples are:

- attempting to contact the Rightful Recipient at all known addresses, by all known telephone numbers and at any known e-mail address, or through Estate Agents;

- attempting to return funds using available bank or credit card details of the Rightful Recipient;

- contacting known friends/relatives of the Rightful Recipient;
- advertising in a local newspaper.

2.4 Where the Aged Balance is £100 or more the CLC must be provided with the information set out in 2.2(a) and (b) and, in addition:

(a) details of the Reasonable Steps taken to trace the Rightful Recipient;

(b) brief details indicating how the balance has arisen; and

(c) any other information the CLC may request.

2.5 If authority is given by the CLC for a withdrawal under paragraph 2.2 or 2.4 it will only be on the basis that a cheque or funds transfer for the sum so authorised must be drawn on the client account payable to the CLC. On receipt, the cheque will be placed to the credit of the CLC’s Compensation Fund and utilised for the benefit of such Fund. You should place a copy of the authority issued by the CLC on the clients’ file.

2.6 Where the Rightful Recipient cannot be identified, the CLC will, in exceptional circumstances, give authority under Requirement 12.2.6 of the CLC Accounts Code for the withdrawal of funds from client account on the basis that a cheque or funds transfer for any sum so authorised must be drawn on the client account payable to the CLC. On receipt, the cheque will be placed to the credit of the CLC’s Compensation Fund and utilised for the benefit of such Fund. You should place a copy of the authority issued by the CLC on the clients’ file (or if this is not available in a central record hold it on a Durable Medium).

2.7 If the Rightful Recipient contacts you after funds have been paid into the CLC’s Compensation Fund you should contact the CLC with a view to the Rightful Recipient making a claim for reimbursement on the Compensation Fund unless the body is no longer trading in which case they should contact the CLC directly.